Community Arts and Culture Day
Friday, October 14 – 11 am until 3 pm
Four area organizations have teamed up to offer activities and workshops to area students when Oberlin City Schools are off for NEOEA Day, Friday, October 14. Parents looking for something to do can bring your young learners out, where a variety of activities and cultural events await. Most activities are geared towards primary school-aged children. Adult chaperones are required at all locations. All activities are free, and open to the public.

Participating organizations include the Allen Memorial Art Museum, Firelands Association for the Visual Arts (FAVA), Oberlin Heritage Center.
FAVA-AMAM Teen Workshop
Saturday: October 29 – November 19, 1 pm until 4 pm

Created especially for middle- and high-school aged students, this workshop features an intensive studio based course focusing on artwork or media represented in the AMAM collection. All materials are provided free of charge to participants.

Sunday Object Talks

Student docents discuss works on display. Talks begin at 2 pm, and last about fifteen minutes. Starting September 18, through December 11 (except for 10/23, 10/30).

Weltzheimer/Johnson Open House

The Frank Lloyd Wright designed home is open the first and third Sunday of each month from 12 pm until 5 pm. Presentations begin on the hour. Through December 4, 2011.
